THE PROJECT IN A FEW WORDS

In recent years, climate change has transformed from a distant concern to an undeniable and palpable reality for all living beings on this planet. This profound shift in our ecosystems brings diverse and far-reaching consequences that impact many areas of our lives and societies.

The simplistic view that climate change only affects our ecosystems is outdated; today, we recognize that no aspect of our lives remains untouched by its devastating effects. Discussing climate change and rights encompasses a wide range of issues, including basic human rights, workers' rights, consumer rights, migrants' rights, animal rights, and the rights of nature itself. Countless challenges are rising every day, and it's necessary to rethink the strategies we choose to face them, and where we dedicate our efforts.

The Green and Fair project aims to open a dialogue about the impact of climate change on rights. How does this process affect workers' rights in the global south or the rights of people in areas heavily impacted by climate change? How can we protect nature and ensure it receives the rights granted by our legislation? We are living in a rapidly changing era, facing new challenges that require us to address these issues collectively. New generations must engage in these discussions and work together to foster attitudes and narratives that promote harmonious coexistence with each other and the planet.

In essence, the goal of Green and Fair is to initiate a discussion on the impact of climate change on human rights and explore how we can ensure their protection as a society.

LOCATION

The participants will be hosted on the educational farm Buona Terra, where they will stay in spacious glamping tents equipped with beds, furniture and electricity. The tents will be shared and will have mixed nationalities. Please keep in mind that the venue is a 30-minute walk from the first shop.

The farm gives great importance to self-responsibility and respect for nature. Some ground rules will be given during the stay, to respect the place, inside and outside, to respect people living in the surroundings, to respect the animals, to control the environmental impact (water, electricity...) and to create a safe and enjoyable environment for the whole duration of the project.

The farm's address is: Via Campagna 26, 06065 Passignano sul Trasimeno, Italy.

PARTICIPANTS

*6 participants + 1 leader per partner,
35 participants in total*

Participants must be young people aged 18-30 interested in the topic who are willing to discover more about it. The main point is the commitment of the participants to be involved. Regarding the groups' leaders, they should have taken part in the Taking the Lead Training Course organized by Kora in February 2024. In any case, the participants' commitment must be a priority during the selection. Participants will bring back from the youth exchange skills and competencies that can be shared and used in the organisation's activities.

Listing the various criteria of selection:

- Motivation regarding the topic of the youth exchange;
- Good level of English, at least to understand everything and be able to express oneself on any topic
- Commitment to organise a small dissemination event after the youth exchange.

Even though it is not a primary requirement, it would be appreciated if the participants participating in the youth exchange belonged at some level to the category of fewer opportunities. It is not mandatory, but partners are asked to check that on candidates, and, if similar conditions are given among more candidates, prefer to involve youth workers with fewer opportunities.

WHAT TO PREPARE

- Country Presentation: each country should prepare a presentation on the human rights situation in relation to climate change in their countries. The presentation should be no longer than 10 minutes, and should talk about good practices, bad practices, particularities, etc. More details about the session will be provided at the pre-project meeting with the leaders.
- Intercultural Night: Each national group should prepare an activity about their country for the Intercultural Night. It can include theatre sketches, traditional dances, songs, quizzes about national culture and history or/and local food... Be creative!

WHAT TO BRING

- Your travel documents and ID
- Toiletries (toothbrush and -paste, shampoo etc.)
- Sun protection: glasses, hat, sunscreen
- Towels
- Swimming suit
- House shoes for inside
- Optional: Camera and/or laptop
- Adapter for Italian plugs
- Comfortable outdoor clothes and shoes for every kind of weather (clothes that you don't mind getting dirty or ruined)
